Chromotherapy; Healing through color

N.1 "In the name of our fathers"

Vk Lillie's 2017/18 collection explores the idea of experience & healing through color. N. 1 is in dedication to her father and healing the men/fathers of the planet. The history of chromotherapy, or color medicine, is as old as that of any other known medicine.

This collection is made from raw transparent leather painted and colored with natural dye collected while traveling in Morocco & Mexico over the course of several years.

Vk Lillie presents the chrome collection with an artists Dinner;

Inviting 13 artists; this dinner celebrates an artist's perspective of color through food.

The dinner is served on a round table - the center of the table is the main stage of the installation of Vk Lillie's Chrome collection. Using metal sculptures to hold the "necklaces" creating chandeliers, the transparent vividly colored leather is lit by candle light.

The table is set with vintage metallic plates made from silver, copper and brass collected in Morocco. Laid OVER all of the plates is a light canvas table cloth with the name of each artist hand stitched next to their plate. The menu is made from food elements that are know to stain/ dye fabric and served in courses that grow in color intensity. Beginning with the Root chakra red and ending at the crown chakra purple. Each artist serves themselves allowing them to "paint" their meal. Natural silverware made of wood and/ or shell with the encouragement to use ones hands.

During each course of the meal the sound, light and color of the room changes, based on the color being served. Experimenting with the effect sound & color can have while eating, emotions and reactions. A living experiment & performance. The energy of this very intimate dinner will be collected by the crystals used in the Vk Lillie collection at the center of the table. Focusing strong intension through the crystals and into the world.

The invited are asked to dress in their favorite monochrome color.

Chandeliers grow in height based on the color and its corresponding chakra.

Guest List

The Guests of the dinner are a mix of “Artists” from the Gallery and “Artists” chosen by the designer, chef & production.

Press event will be open to a very fine selection of press, buyers and supporters.

Technical information

Filmed discreetly from above;

Each guest is interviewed by Bianca O’Brien before and after the dinner.

Metal Sculpture created by French based artist Pierre Philix, aka as Spek. Spek began by producing and performing electro music. Attraction (attraction) with solid matter came later, around his thirties. Then shapes and forms came as naturally as sound and thoughts. Syncopes, straight, asymmetrical but balanced like in nature likely worked into architectural, jewels, sculpture, furniture projects.

French based Chef Anastasia Finders creates a unique “color” menu inspired by the collection and her interest in the “spirit” of food.

Sound artist Egon Eliut collaborates with a sound track corresponding with the vibrations of color relating to sound & is played live at the dinner.

Production & Set design; Pandora Graessl - Graessl Studio
Co-produced; Hammalcaide

Gem & Bolt; Damiana infused Mezcal - Damiana is a very powerful herb used as an antidepressant & for positive mood enhancement.

-The Lillie bloodline carries generations of healers -

Vanessa Lillie

Born in Boulder, Colorado, Vanessa became immersed in Native American culture and spirituality at the early age of 16. She was profoundly impressed by its philosophy which understands the importance of respecting and honoring the Earth as the universal Mother, and all creatures and beings as equals. Vanessa also finds strength and support from what the Native Americans call the "Great Spirit," the creator of all things. With her knowledge of beading, which was passed down from Kira's grandmother, Vanessa began to mix her passion for bead work with an old Native American tradition, creating her own interpretation of the "medicine bag" which she passed on to her daughter Kira. Vanessa wears her medicine bag, which she fills with meaningful object and healing stones, interchanging them according to the challenge in her life at hand. Vanessa has dedicated her life to healing and teaching, with profound knowledge in Acupressure, Reiki, and Yoga. She now resides in Thermopolis, Wyoming where she works as a healer in her studio "Wind River — Massage Therapy and Healing Arts" and continues to make medicine bags for her Community.

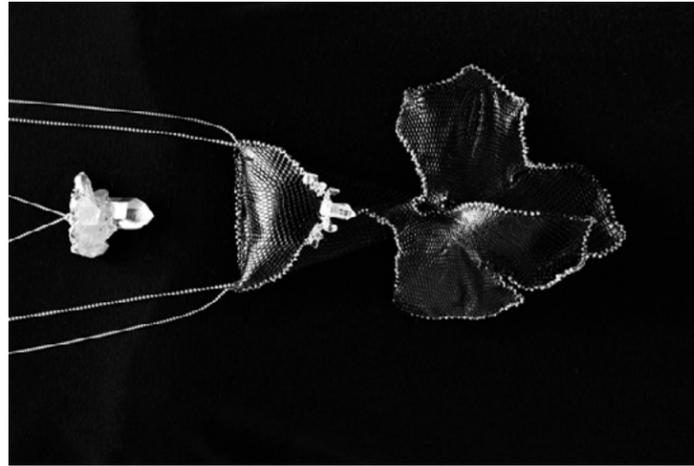

Kira Lillie

Born in Boulder, Colorado and raised in Santa Cruz, California, Kira inherited her knowledge of the Native American culture and spirituality from her mother Vanessa. Kira grew up with her mother's creativity and passion for bead work and remembers sitting beside her learning and acquiring the skills necessary to create these small, intricate medicine bags.

After years spent in Milan, Paris, and NY working in the fashion industry as a photographer, Kira decided to create Vk Lillie, bridging an ancient tradition filled with meaning and intention to the world of Luxury. Kira believes these little creations can help make a meaningful difference in everyone's life, not only aesthetically but also spiritually.
